WE NOMINATE

George Stuart Hendry, a Princetonian since 1949 and one of this country's most distinguished, and soft-spoken, theologians, who 15 years ago struck the spark which this past week made possible the publication of the New Testament part of The New English Bible. It was on May 15, 1946, that the now 57-year old Hendry, then pastor at Bridge of Allan, Scotland, "blurted out what many had in mind" and presented to the General Assembly of the Church of Scotland (on behalf of the Presbytery of Stirling and Dunblane) the overture that led to the making of the new English Bible, a completely new translation from the Greek and Hebrew into the English of the 20th century.

Hendry, Hodge Professor of Systematic Theology at Princeton Theological Seminary for the past 12 years, emphasizes that he has had no direct contact with "The New Bible" for well over a decade. Nonetheless, he was primarily responsible for negotiating the agreements that resulted in the support of the undertaking by the major American and Protestant denominations in the United Kingdom and also activated the operating machinery, including three panels of translators (New Testament, Old Testament and Apocrypha) as well as the anonymous panel of the distinguished literary advisers charged with watch-dogging over the English of the scholars' translations.

Contrary to the implications of American reviewers, many of whom have conveyed the impression that "The New English Bible" is vying with the Authorized or King James Version in the 350th anniversary year of the latter, the newly issued translation represents "a clamant need for a new version in religious education." Hendry, for some 20 years a school chaplain in Scotland, notes: "the language of the King James Version can constitute a formidable barrier between the child and the message of the Bible"—a barrier explaining why a "precious half-hour" has often been wasted in clarifying the meaning of words rather than the message that should be imparted.

The first Secretary of the Joint Committee of the British Churches on the New Translation (1946-1949), Hendry reports that the New Testament, of which the Oxford and Cambridge University Presses have already issued some 1,000,000 copies, is the trial-and-error work of some of the world's most eminent Biblical scholars. "Draft translations were prepared by individual members of each panel," Hendry recalls, and "were then carefully scrutinized by the whole panel, 'verse by verse, sentence by sentence.'" The literary panel then gave "much time and thought to the style of the English." Through it all runs the 20th century concept of scholarly team-work!

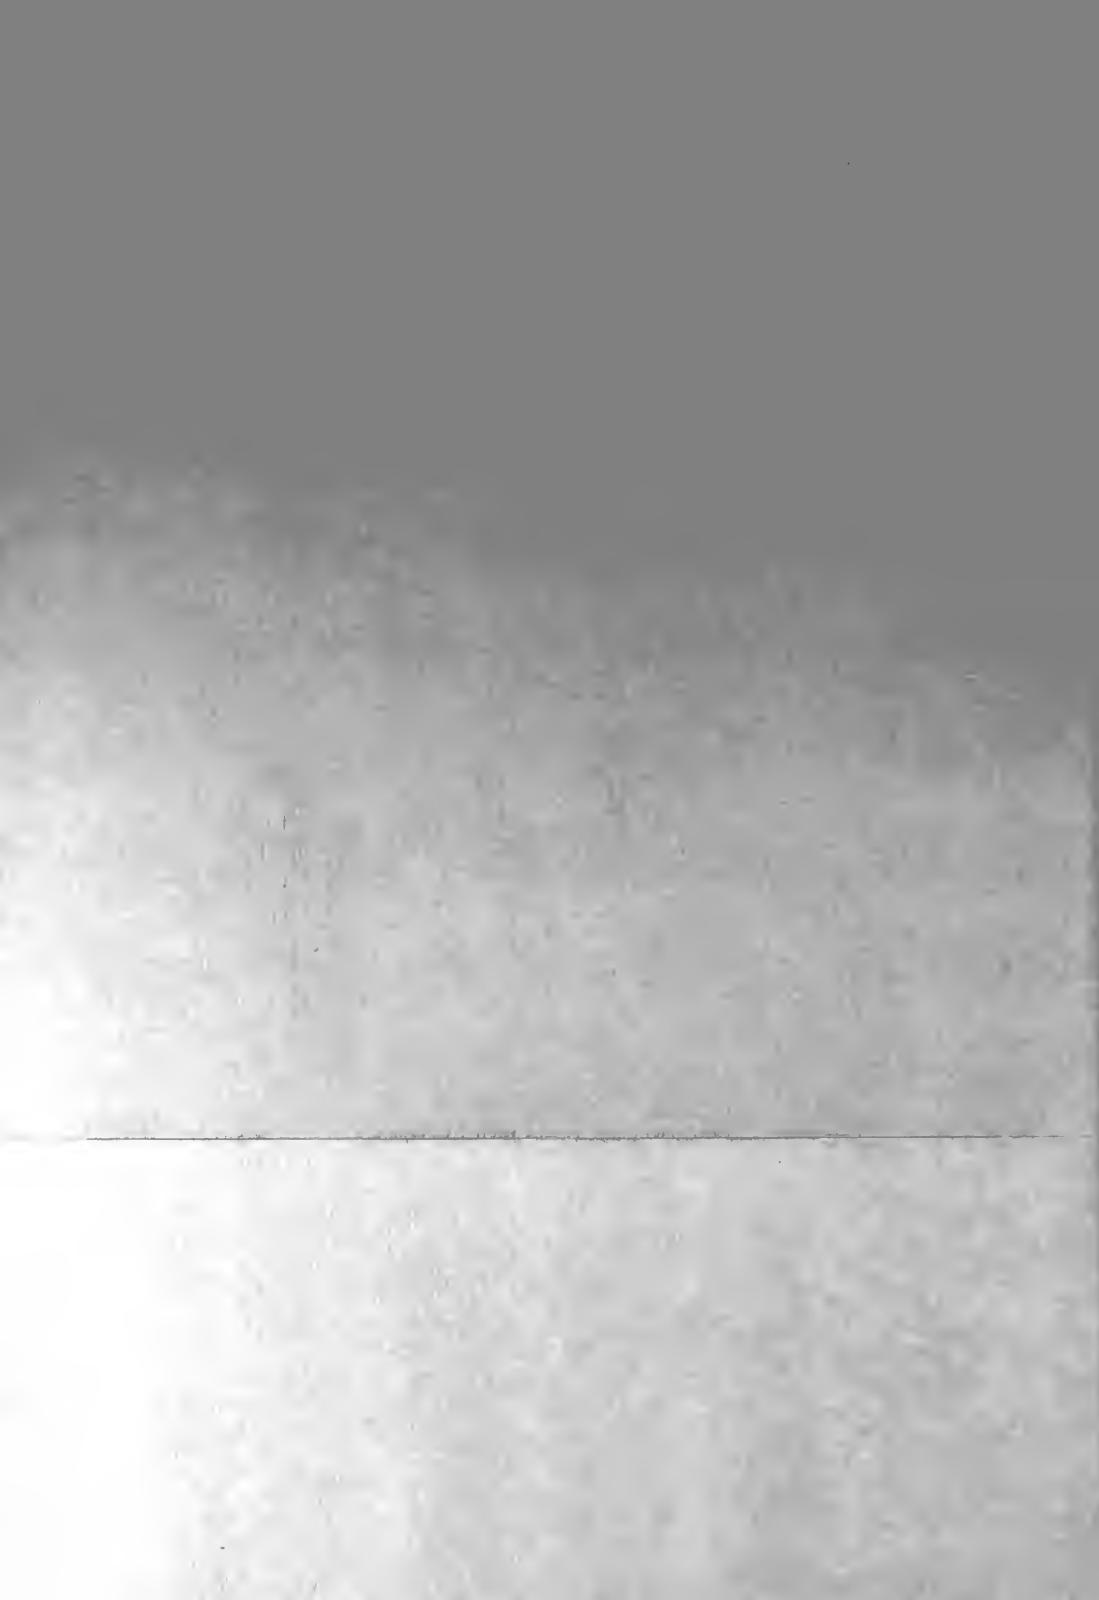

Hendry, Scottish-born and Scottish-trained at the Universities of Aberdeen and Edinburgh, has never lacked the courage of his convictions. A close friend of John Alexander Mackay, President Emeritus of the Seminary, the magnet who helped attract him to Princeton in 1949, he didn't hesitate to state in 1946: "The language of the Authorized Version is archaic and has become largely unintelligible to the people; and the work of the Church, both in preaching the Gospel and in instructing the young, is gravely impeded in consequence."

For his contributions to a notable event in the history of Biblical scholarship; for understanding that the relevance of the Bible belongs to all ages, and particularly the harum-scarum 20th century; for serving without recognition in a major venture both as "believer and literary artist"; he is TOWN TOPICS' nominee for

"LET'S PLAN AHEAD" For Education, the Board comes around will Princeton be able to meet the educational needs of its boys and girls? Or, to put it another way, "Where do we go from here?"

The instruction committees of Borough and Township school boards have been conferring together regularly — and with vigor — and April 11th, they try to define the problems they can consider jointly and to look, if they can, far enough into the future to work out solutions for problems that may exist two decades from now.

Last week, 300 teachers from all the sending districts of Princeton High School met the school to exchange views on curricula and to explore areas where procedures might be improved. Both instruction committees report the meeting as highly successful, and smaller groups will now follow up the ideas that were suggested at the meeting.

"Shouldn't we try to offer in the future, through postsecondary training?" Mr. Pearson asks. "Perhaps Mercer County will be ready by 1989, for a public two-year college." He would think of offering the technical training that's going to be necessary in our society in the next decades. Even now, about two-thirds of Princeton's new students after high school, isn't it?

"Then," says Mr. Pearson, "we can see where we go from here."

guide young people into happy marriages, and so on.

It was the women in the adult education segment who felt, at the end, that they were doing something the people who needed them most: the people at the lower end of the economic scale.

We offer courses in child raising, marriage, pre-natal care and so on, we just don't tell the people who ought to take those courses.

What other participant suggested that it is only educated people who accept the concept of "taking a course" to learn something.

That is the whole idea of offering courses might be pointless.

Members of the workshop concluded that the "more harrier" could best be cushioned by enlisting ministers, school guidance directors and possibly juvenile court workers in the task of informing people about the agencies that could help them.

"Must communities have a health officer for every 90,000 persons," said Mrs. Arthur Munro, who has been a member of the Borough Board of Health for 10 years. "We have Mr. Blake Smith, an assistant for the Borough alone."

Dr. Jeanne Munro, director of the Borough's well-baby clinic, said that West Windsor Township joined the clinic this week with a roster of 20 West Windsor mothers. There are now 100 mothers registered with the free clinic, according to Dr. Munro.

In outlining the work of the clinic, Dr. Munro said that she felt the Township did not know how many Township mothers called her to enroll their children in the clinic. Township officials have taken the position that the community, directly or indirectly, need the well-baby service, said Dr. Munro. Last month's Council of Community Services' workshops dealt with recreation and education in the home. In April, the Council will use the report of the White House Conference as a checklist for Princeton. Reports of all workshops will be sent to all agencies who sent representatives.

PERSON TO PERSON

When talking about peoples governed and dominated by a dictator's acquaintance, one finds a quotation taken from Winston Churchill on that subject:

"... Tyrannies may restrain or regulate men's words. The chinless, the spineless, the weak may pack their minds with falsehood and deny them the right to speak their own minds. But the soul of man thus held in truce or frozen into a long night of silence cannot long remain, a spark coming from God knows where, and in a moment the whole structure of lies and oppression is overthrown at once."

Our friend said that in all history evil has never been beaten, nor has it ever been beaten by force. Evil triumphs because it uses force and that its triumph is based upon the statement of man: 'I can't last forever.' But if we can't last forever, let us foretell the future and the present enemy is the strongest that man has ever known. In the meantime, thank God for our Navy's Polaris Missile and the strength and courage of the world's greatest deterrent to all out war."

It is comforting to realize that history, and right, and our Navy's might are all on our side. And, if you doubt we doubt that you will mind throwing in the fact that we are on YOUR side for maximum values and satisfaction.

PERSONALITIES

Dr. Edward S. Erdman, 30 Broadmoor Street, who announced this week that he will retire from the State Republican chairmanship "in favor of a younger man." The Erdmans had decided to move to Princeton, had April 20, the date of the first meeting of the new state G.O.P. committee, as the occasion for parting. Dr. Erdman, after having filled the unsalaried post on virtually a full-time basis for two and a half years.

Joseph Joshua, 2700 Princeton Avenue, celebrated his 100th birthday on March 20, observed a milestone attained by few men when he celebrated his 100th birthday. A native of Holland, Mr. Joshua, after immigrating to America, became a conductor with orchestras playing for various benefit programs in this area.

Miles Rosalind Webster, 35 Broadmoor Street, widow of Dr. Webster, college's top academic honor, for the second year in a row. A graduate of Miss Fine's School, their daughter, Mrs. Mr. and Mrs. George Webster achieved this honor with a membership in Phi Beta Kappa, membership in the year.

Joseph Stevens, Province Lane Road, member of Andover's athletic teams for 10 years, has been awarded the Summer Smith award in the spirit for outstanding play, endeavor and sportsmanship during his three years on the varsity.

ROUND-UP

The State Senate has passed a bill that would require a $100 assessment deduction annually to homeowners over 65 whose combined income is less than $5,000.... if passed by the Assembly and signed by the Governor, the deduction would apply to homeowner about $70 a year in taxes.... other property owners will find their tax bills slightly higher to keep the money in the budget even though there are two inches of rain left last week, and the thermometer's excursions into lower levels kept winter on hand again at the beginning of the month.... come Monday afternoon.... time records were almost shattered Saturday when a low of 13 degrees... a record... made high was set and on Friday the top reading was one degree above freezing.

A TOWN TOPICS reader began with a word of appreciation for William Watt, 44 Harrison Street, who serves as a school crossing guard at the Nassau-Harrington intersection.... on a cold,灰色的 day, a kindly "customer" of Mr. Watt lost her school papers and hat to the wind, whereupon he guided her across the street, pursued, picked up the papers and tied her hat back on "under her chin."

Robert W. DeWitt, 82 Grove Street, has joined the staff of Sheriff Stanhope's office as an assistant... a resident of the municipality for the past 15 years. Mr. De Witt was formerly in the auto parts business.

Frederick L. Arnold, 37, 2 East Stanworth, missed a turn on Herrenroute Road, last Saturday morning, 1-20-61, according to police report that his car struck a mailbox on the side of the road, then a guy-wire, and came to rest. Both sides of the mailbox were torn off, and Arnold was uninjured but his car had to be towed away.

Princetonians were chuckling this week when a newspaper headline read: "Hardly a man here for happy marriages... a man arguing with his wife bashed his head against the wall and $10,000 in gold and silver coins fell out."

SABBATICALS PLANNED

For Township Teachers. Township teachers or administrators of schools with seven years or more of service will be eligible to participate in a new sabbatical plan that will go into effect next year in the Township school system.

Under the terms of the new plan, the teacher will spend his free year in either study or travel or both, examining intensively some problem concerning his particular field of the school system at large. He will receive half of his regular salary and will agree to return after his sabbatical and remain for three years with the Township school system.

During his leave, he may not earn money except with specific permission. He will report regularly to the superintendent of schools regarding his progress and will present a final report when he returns.

Dr. William Purcell, superintendent of schools, told the School Board Thursday night that the members of the board are now eligible for sabbaticals. He said that school administrators would choose applicants according to the merit of their applications and would arrange schedules so that all 16 would not be away from school in the same year.

The Board also voted to recommend to the legislature on leaves that it would grant leaves of absence to teachers accepted by the State Department's International Education Exchange Program.

Six teachers who will have completed three years with the Township in June, were offered tenure by the Board at Thursday night's meeting. They are: Eugene Doherty, Mrs. Helen Gray, Mrs. Edith Jeffries, Mrs. Barbara Lohner, Mrs. Leah Riddle and Mrs. Alice Rosso.

Board member Leonard Hymmerling, reporting on the progress of the new Township Early Gardens School, said that Fulmer and Bowers, architects, would have working drawings ready by May 15 end that construction could begin August 1.

Board members then asked Mr. Hymmerling why the architects had not met the March 15 deadline they had agreed to for working drawings, and why there had been a two-month delay in obtaining the survey of the school property from Van Natta-Harvey Associates, engineers.

Mr. Hymmerling said that, after considerable delay the architect had finally produced its revised, but then it was in error and showed Guyton Avenue 90 feet away from where it should have been. Mr. Hymmerling said that he never surveyed the property himself. He also said that he would meet with representatives of Fulmer and Bowers to find out why the March 15 deadline had not been met.

The weighty question of who, when walking to school and because many sidewalks had been constructed for this purpose across the owners' properties.

Committeeman John S. Mount disagreed with the report that the cost of the sidewalk program might raise the tax rate by two points, and that if the Township took on the responsibility of shoveling snow, it would just as well assume the task of mowing right-of-way grass. He raised the question of "the responsibilities of citizenship" and said he felt that each owner should clean his sidewalk.

In defense, Mr. Healy spoke of the increasing urbanization of the community and suggested that the whole matter involved other questions which should be settled before that report was tabled for study.

Mayor R. Kenneth Fairman spoke on a motion held on March 2 between the Board of Recreation Commissioners. Continued on Page 4 and a representative from the firm of Clarke and Rappaport, landscape engineers who are designing Community Gardens. He told Committee that, according to his present general knowledge, there will be a plot of lawn on the south side of Route 209 with no visible boundary between the new school's property and the Gardner property, and he recommended for a new Civic Building with additional parking, roughly between the new school and the present Township Hall.

On the west side of the extension of John Street, there will be a continuation of the street-parking, and the new school's property will be bounded by the new school's property. The strip will run along the north of the Leigh Avenue houses, with an exit at Race Court Lane. The ball and volley ball will be played along this area, and the same fence will be used to define the courts and the fence of the new school. The plot from John to Bayard Lane will be one big lawn, with a softball diamond and possibly hardball.

Across Route 209, plans call what Mayor Fairman referred to as "architectural" games; that is, swimming pools, tennis courts, skating rink, and so on.

Committee authorized the engineering department to retain an engineer to prepare two-foot cross sections of the proposed landscape engineers that final plans can be drawn.

In other business, Committee unanimously accepted the recommendation of Assessor Stanley Rohson to the County Tax Board that Mercer County adopt the 1960 percent tax rate. Mr. Nini and Mr. Bonson were asked to prepare a formal resolution incorporating the County Tax Board and to other municipalities in Mercer County.

Committee also adopted the recommendation of Mr. Nini and Township Attorney Gordon Griffin that the Township regulate raffles by following state laws rather than adopting a new raffles ordinance. Raffles were approved by voters in the Township last November.

INTERIOR PARKING SEEN OFF

Witherspoon Street, Negotiations currently being conducted by Princeton Borough Council are expected to lead to the creation of an interior parking lot in the area between Witherspoon and Tufts Streets, behind the Nassau Street stores. Establishment of off-street parking in this section, considered the single most hard-pressed business area for parking facilities, has been advocated by parking consultants for 15 years now.

As announced by Mayor Raymond F. Male at last week's meeting of the Borough Council, first steps toward creating the projected parking lot would be acquisition of the property at 23 Witherspoon Street, now occupied by the former Lambshead Restaurant building. This would provide an entrance to the lot off Witherspoon Street.

Acquisition of additional properties in the area, also under negotiation now, would provide an exit from the lot into Tufts Street. An entrance to the Borough Council, with entrance and exit would be one-way, to avoid traffic congestion.

Council's hope, according to Councilman William H. Walker 2nd, is to provide parking space for 75 vehicles. Persons parking in the lot would be able to enter Nassau and Witherspoon Street stores from the rear. In addition, the projected lot would provide an unloading area for trucks delivering supplies to the stores, cutting down on off-street parking on Witherspoon and Nassau Streets.

"HAMLET" ELABORATE.
In McCarter Production. Previous productions in McCarter's summer Shakespeare series have stressed the play and the actors rather than the production, but the "Hamlet" that will open this Thursday at 8:30 p.m. and will be presented again Friday and Saturday evenings and Sunday afternoon has been staged with pomp and ceremony.

Costumes by Ann Roth will provide "as many as five changes of scene of principals, to cite one example, and the costumes themselves will be more elaborate than the basic garments worn in previous productions." The stage will once again be the Elizabethan stage superimposed on the McCarter stage for the purpose of these Shakespeare offerings.

Ellis Rabb, director of "Hamlet," has chosen to use several scenes, including the graveyard scene, from the First Quartos rather than the First and Second Quarto scenes. These First Quarto scenes have never before been played in this country, according to Mr. Rabb.

"Hamlet" is the final offering of the Association of Producing Artists' series. Richard Eason will play the title role.

COMDEN AND GREEN DUE

On April 21st "A Party With Betty Comden and Adolph Green" will be held in McCarter Theatre on Friday, April 21, under the auspices of C-K Productions. The show will feature sketches and songs from the long line of Comden and Green Broadway shows, such as "Bells Are Ringing," "On the Town," "Do Re Mi," and "Singin' in the Rain."

The two performers began their careers at the Village Vanguard in New York, and after an abbreviated appearance in the musical theater, decided to write a show with fat parts in it, which they could play themselves. They stuck with music by Leonard Bernstein, and the show, "Do Re Mi," was a hit. Bernstein's first musical, "On the Town," and it marked the beginning of the Comden and Green success story.

Brooks Atkinson of the New York Times said of the pair: "Their songs and sketches are brilliant pieces of writing. Miss Comden and Mr. Green are ideal performers. They have the experience of the professional although they have not the enthusiasm of the amateur."

Tickets for the McCarter performance are now on sale at the University Store or through Box 591, Princeton.

THE PLAYHOUSE:

CIMARRON (March 22-28). While the Garden continues its admirable series of Monday re-runs, we are treated at the Playhouse with a remarkable series of sketches, of which "Cimarron" is the latest example. It would seem that any picture filmed before the advent of wide-screen and color must therefore be inadequate for modern viewing.

THE PLAYS THE THING: And "Hamlet" is the play this week on the McCarter Theatre boards. Richard Eason of the APA Company, will celebrate his 28th birthday by playing Hamlet here in Princeton. The young actor has been playing Hamlet since he was 19 years old, and has been cited by Canadian critics as "one of Canada's finest Hamlet."

Edna Ferber's "Cimarron" was filmed in 1931 by RKO and starred Richard Dix and Irene Dunne. It is still considered one of all time. The 1961 version, starring Glenn Ford and Maria Schell, has more color, more screen space, a larger cast to fill it and a poorer grade of actors. The one spectacle section, a race for the land race for the Oklahoma territory, is very excitingly and lavishly staged.

For a strange role as Yancey Craven, the adventurer known as "Cimarron," who leaves in and out of the story. After his initial settling in Oklahoma, he leaves his family for five years, returns and again leaves again and again. This time, however, there falls upon Miss Schell (one n' Germany's top actresses making her third American picture) as his wife, a role she handles well. In the original Cinemascope, with Anne Baxter, Arthur O'Connell and the Roger Wagner Chorale.

THE MILLENNIUM (March 29, April 1). When Sophie Loren, a spoiled heiress, opens a new hospital clinic, she proudly boasts, "I have the most beautiful equipment in the world." This sort of statement is typical of the film, which like a series of farces and double meanings leaning heavily on sex as a subject.

Happily, however, Peter Sellers is also in the movie and manages to make the usual "out-of-the-blue" tragicomedy. Sellers, one of England's top comics, plays his role as the unsavory doctor fairly straight and comes off quite well by utilizing the British type of understatement comedy.

Miss Loren's acting ability is limited to posing, but, then, who's to say that's necessarily

THE GARDEN

The League of Gentlemen (March 21-23) is a picture of the subtle comedy—thriller that the English film-makers seem to have so much success with. Starring Jack Hawkins and Nigel Patrick, this picture is by Alec Guinness' "Ladypackers" with white tie and tails.

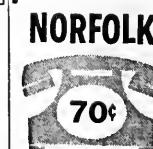

Hawkins is an ex-Lieutenant Colonel in the Army who resents his forced retirement. To help him cope with his country, he conducts a study of the Post Office, banking and electrical installations systems, and sets up a massive bank robbery plan on a scale approximating a full-scale military operation.

Working from an American (naturally) crime novel, "The Golden Fleece," Hawkins organizes a gang of Gentlemen from old Army records, and proceeds with the fantastic, intricate and complex scheme, "Operation Golden Fleece." Director Basil Dearden does a fine job here in a nice balance between comedy and suspense. Recommended.

Pajama Game (March 27-28) is a film musical comedy as it should be. The plot is simple, there is very little tragedy and the singing and dancing are excellent. Furthermore, Hollywood does a good job of putting up with additional songs and stage hits.

Doris Day is the only Hollywoode addition to the original Broadway cast and is a perfect complement to the robustly minarettes of the Broadway originals. The dancing and Eddie Foy, Jr. the comedy. Songs include "Hernando's Hideaway," "Hey There," "Steam Heat" and "Once-A-Year Day." This is a 1957 release in color. Recommended.

Ben-Hur (begin March 29) is the most expensive picture ever made. Filmed in Italy, it took five years and $15,000,000 to complete. Since then, it has received 11 Academy Awards; received the Best Picture of the Year from the New York Film Critics, the British Film Foreign and the Screen Producers Guild Award, and the Screen Director's Guild Award. It's not THAT good.

5 min. station rate from 9:00 a.m. to 6 p.m. 10% tax not included.

However, there is something in it for everyone. A tender, moving love story, a suspenseful action, the battle scenes between two navies; the story of Christ, simply told (except for a terrible prologue); and the growing empathy between two men who tend to keep the long (3 hours, 32 minutes plus one intermission) picture moving at a furious pace.

And the chariot race, the ornate racing, the minarettes of modern movie-making. It is the spectacle to end all spectacles, a masterpiece of staging, camera-work and stunt riding. It begins just right, and if you want to avoid the slower first half of the picture...

Action is at peak performance throughout, from the old timers (Charlton Heston and Jack Holt) to the young comedians (Stephen Boyd and lovely Hayley Hassar). Defects, besides the length, include the prologue and an excess of brutality and shock value. The chariot race, the chariot race and the crucifixion scene all seem to lead to approach, if not actually violate, the boundaries of taste.

"Penelope" is in color and Panavision. Special times will be every day, including Sundays, at 1:30 and 7:30. Special prices will also prevail. Recommended.

IT'S NEW To Us

IT'S ANTIQUE TIME

Wellesley Has Exhibit. Last year's venture into antiques was so successful that the Wellesley Club that it will be repeated this year, although it's not a venture any more, come to think of it.

Brokers and buyers may spend next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday in the gymnasium at Princeton County Day School, exploring the displays put up by antique dealers from every state. New Jersey sent and from across the Delaware, too. The show will be open from 11 a.m. to 10 p.m. on Tuesday and Wednesday, and from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Thursday.

One of the most striking exhibits will be the imagination of the Princeton Decorating Shop. The shop will offer a pink bedroom decorated around a quilt made by a quilter in northern New Jersey.

This sample will show you the style and workmanship which you can have in a quilt you order from us, either in your own fabric or a fabric chosen for you by the quilt maker. (These quilts, surely in the "tomorrow's heirloom" category, start at $60.)

A shop in New Hope will exhibit an impressive and valuable piece of Delft, dating to the year around 1680. It's a large blue and white bowl, a true collector's item for anyone familiar with Delft.

The same shop will show a pair of Chelsea Derby furniture—boy and a girl with that leaf foliage background that is so typically Chelsea.

If you collect clocks, you'll be interested in the big 50-day wall clock that recently came from a hank, and was probably used to time the foreclosure of mortgages. A French solid bronze clock has a gilt figure of Napoleon crossing the Alps.

Raw books, old pieces of copper and pewter from Britain will also be shown.

Incidentally, there will be a balanced mixture of both formal and country styles in the pieces of furniture on display at the show. The pine dry sink will be to suit Queen Anne and all taste will be satisfied.

Lunch each day will be available each day. You may buy casserole, salad and roll, dinner coffee and dessert in place of a meal, for $1.25. Lunch will be served from 11:30 to 1:30. Afternoon tea or coffee with homemade cookies, bread and jam, $1.25. The 50 cents. And the Helen Elliott Candy Company will have a booth to sustain you from lunch until tea time.

PURE CORN

Age? You Kidder? From the still countryside around Alhambra, Georgia, comes a clear and potent brew which is just as much classic as anything in the Georgia business. Georgia Moon, corn whiskey "less than 30 days old," according to the label—clear as gin pure as a Georgia maiden and as sweet as a Georgia peach.

Buy it (but keep it away from open flame) at The Pink Elephant, 10 proof.

This is the whiskey you've read about that has made such a stir because of its unique packaging. In some states, you can buy it in an old-fashioned glass jar with a screw top; just the way they had it in the southern mountains.

In New Jersey, however, you've got to buy it in a regular liquor bottle, presumably because the alcohol people thought you might confuse it with grandma's pickles. After one drink, of course, you may well be pickled yourself but this is your problem.

Kentucky Tavern sends the Pink Elephant some handsome silver decanters full of K.T. They are wide, round-bottomed quartz or half-gallons, designed like the no-roll decanters used in candle quarts. Kits! Those burlap smocks you have enjoyed so much are now available in kits, of all things, and Bailey's have them in black, red, beige or brown $6.95.

As a matter of fact, the casings, spindles and burlap skirts you have enjoyed so much are really noteworthy this year. They have been designed here in Princeton and made by Yester, Ltd., at the Bailey workroom there.

One is a flared duck with that classic curving pocket you find in denim play clothes. Wide and sturdy belt tabs, and a wrap-around cut in natural duck or navy denim for $6.95.

Another navy denim (and this is a rich, dark navy, not a faded blue) has unpressed pleats, a belt, and a great big pocket on each side of the back. It comes, also, in red, black or green, tickling stripe $6.95.

Solids are deep brown, light orange, green and beige. Its simple lines and casual colors make this skirt a real back-bone for your supermarket.

MUSIC In Princeton

QUARTET IS HEARD

Performance Is Exemplary.
On Monday night the Juilliard String Quartet presented a concert in McCarter Theatre which was exemplary in every way. The program itself, consisting of three monuments of the chamber music literature, was of exceptional interest, and the performances were, in every respect, exemplary.

Beethoven's "Quartet in F major, Op. 135," which was performed before the so-called last quartet, anticipates many aspects of those works. The contrast between tautness and almost Schubertian lyricism in the second movement, the contrasts and drastic changes in rate of motion in the last, were vividly portrayed, in an interpretation of great insight.

"The Fifth Quartet" of Bela Bartok has now become one of the classics. It is one of Bartok's most characteristic compositions, and is one of the most graceful modern works for the medium. It is interesting to note that the Bartok Quartet, which first performed this work, has changed somewhat, since they first performed all six of the first quartets in two Town Hall concerts over a decade ago.

Then, the emphasis was on energy, virtuosity, drastic contrast and excitement; and exciting performances were given. Since then, the work has evolved into more mature performance; without sacrificing imagination and expression, they have achieved a more subtle interpretation, with the contrasts less exaggerated, emphasizing continuity.

The Juilliard Quartet made its reputation playing works of such composers as Bartok, Schoenberg and Webern, and at the time they first achieved prominence as an ensemble their interpretations of early eighteenth and nineteenth century works sometimes seemed overly choppy and frenetic, and their rhythmic flexibility, edge. Since then, all trace of such naivete has vanished.

In their performance of Mozart's incomparable "Quintet in G major," Op. 17, much earlier, than revealed an ability to split out long lyrical lines, with restraint, warmth, and sensitivity. A remarkable performance of one of the most remarkable pieces ever written.

All the members of the quartet are first-rate talents (as is the violinist Walter Trampler), and their rapport as an ensemble is excellent. In every sense of the word there are always certain artists who, in a sense, set the standards. The Juilliard Quartet has achieved that position, and has done a great deal to sway the finest string quartet in this country. Their technical accomplishment is astonishing, their flexibility of time is superb, and they are unrivaled, and they are able to grasp the essence of different musical styles with penetrating insight. It would be difficult to find other string quartet performances, in any respect, than those given Monday night by the Juilliard Quartet.

LEWIN WORK FEATURE
Of Symphony Program. A new work written especially for the Princeton Symphony Orchestra by Frank Lewin is a feature of the orchestra's third concert of this season, to be given Monday at 8:30 p.m. in McCarter Theatre. Lewin, 25, is entitled "Evection."

Mr. Lewin, who is production manager of Filmsounds Inc., New York, has previously composed scores for various productions of the Community Players and the University Players, as well as for film, television and commercial stage. He graduated from the Princeton conservatories and received his B.A. degree from Yale University in 1951.

HIS NEW COMPOSITION ON PROGRAM: "Evection" by Frank Lewin, Princeton composer, is on the program of the Young Concert to be played Monday by the Princeton Symphony Orchestra.

Other works to be included in the Princeton Symphony Orchestra's program of Monday night are "Mozart's Symphony No. 35 in C minor" and Brahms' "Concerto in D major, Op. 77," for violin and orchestra.

Guest soloist for the Brahms' piece will be Robert Gerle, Hungarian violinist who made his debut at Town Hall in New York in 1954. Robert Gerle also plays the famous Stradivarius, made his debut at the age of 13 while a student at the Franz Liszt Academy in Budapest.

Honored at Tanglewood. Upon his arrival in the United States shortly after World War II, Mr. Gerle received the Flaminio Award at Tanglewood. At his debut at Town Hall in New York in 1954, Robert Gerle also played the famous Stradivarius, made his debut at the age of 13 while a student at the Franz Liszt Academy in Budapest.

Tickets for Monday's concert are now on sale at the University Store.

FOR ARRANGED SHANTIES

For Princeton Symphony, Mrs. Sacra Commins is a gifted concert pianist who turned to folk music because it is "real music." She has a unique artistry and interpretation." Her arrangement of a group of sea shanties will be played next Monday by the Princeton Symphony at the afternoon young people's concert.

The songs in the medley, "Whiskey Johnny," "Shenandoah," "What Do We Do With a Drunken Sailor?" "Sailor's Hornpipe" and "Farewell to Dear Spungie Lady," were chosen by Mrs. Commins from a collection of shanties presented to her by Eugene O'Neill, an intimate friend of the Commins family.

O'Neill was one of the many authors whose works were guided into publication by the editorial hand of Mrs. Commins, late husband, and playwright, being a close friend of Mrs. Commins through their mutual interest in songs of the sea.

"Before the rehearsals of 'The Iceman Cometh,'" Mrs. Commins recalls, "Gene asked me to take down a couple of sea songs he knew so that the actors in the play could sing them. Well, he had a croaking, quavering voice and he sang these two songs for me as best he could while I sat at the piano and took them in pencil."

The two songs, "Potato Song" and "Rep-Rap" song, were sea songs O'Neill had learned from his father and grandfather.

"The Iceman Cometh" as they were written down by Mrs. Commins. Her copy of the O'Neill play had a grateful inscription: "To the author's crabbish and shaky hand."

Mrs. Commins is the author of a children's book on music, very talented American pianist, who gave his first concert in Carnegie Recital Hall at the age of 12. Next fall, barely 19, he will be entering upon his year at Columbia University.

The program consisted of works by Brahms, Chopin, Ravel, and Debussy, enough to fill in the gap of time and short in its historical period represented by the composers, the program was saved from monotony by Mr. Towne's sensitive recognition of the individuality of each work.

He has a phenomenal technique, of the non-athletic kind, always subservient to the requirements of the score. His playing is always relaxed, unhampered, shrewd in his interpretation of the music itself.

It seemed almost as if he wished his listeners to absorb the music without being particularly aware of the performer. This was a picture strikingly the part of so young a man, revealing a humility towards his art which was most appealing and might well be emulated by some of us.

The piano, save for a slightly recalcitrant pedal, responded happily under his fine, sure hands. It met the challenge in brilliant passages and answered the call for liquid tone or delicate staccato.

Two Intermezzi and two Capricci of Brahms were first on the program. One might question the choice of the "Second Intermezzo, Opus 117, No. 2," a "triumphant, autumn piece." It was played a bit feverishly and is not the best choice for an open-air performance.

After the Brahms Mr. Towne offered the first of four sonatas by Edward MacDowell, the "Tragica," chosen to celebrate the centennial of the composer's birth. Dr. Ernest Hutchison calls it "a noble work, sadly neglected by our concert pianists." It was good to have it vividly brought back to life in Princeton where, in 1936, the University conferred the degree of Doctor of Music on Mr. MacDowell.

After intermission came the "Second Recital, Opus 23," No. 2, of Schumann, the Chaconne Fantaisie and the Sonatine of Ravel. The Fantaisie is one of Chopin's most inspired works and was given a resounding performance.

It may be quibbling to suggest that the introductory "Marcela" should have been played in exact time, leaving the rest of the Fantaisie with its inherent eccentricities. The latitude of expression it requires. Coming after the Fantaisie, the Sonatine of Ravel, a masterpiece of form, brought us back to heel.

The last two numbers on the program were "Reflets dans l'eau" and "L'Isle joyeuse" of Debussy. The former perfectly at home in the performance of this impressionist music. The "Reflets" was delicately shimmering and the "Isle" brilliant, gay and effervescent.

As an encore, Debussy's "Golliwogg's cake walk" from the delightful Suite, "The Children's Corner." It is to be hoped that Mr. Towne will return to Princeton, say to a larger audience, and give us the opportunity of hearing some music of the eighteenth and twentieth centuries.

Unbleached denim has been used throughout with unbleached plackets, black top-stitching, and two pockets, one on top of the other, but the top one slightly off center. Interesting to look at.

Burp! this year has been treated to a horizontal print, and this black print, in dark green or Chinese red, makes a colorful and attractive skirt. Another model has fringed pockets, three self-buttons down the front and a fringed hem.

On the assumption that it will rain again, Bailey's has stocked a unique new raincoat. (Well, it's really an "all-weather" coat.) It's cotton and wool blended with a synthetic material (not a latex) of something that looks like the sponge stuff dry cleaners put on clothes hangers.

This coat itself is a sleek, straight model with slant pockets and single or double-breasted styling. In bright, bright red, black or powder blue for $21.95.

Maternity wear for spring begins at Bailey's with a $12.95 popover top in the gayest stripes of orange, turquoise, white and raspberry, cut with a square neck and no sleeves.

For the way, Smoothie has a "Lyrics Party Girl" for only $5.95. It weighs less than the price tag, and is made in a damask-like Jacquard design.

THE MAYOR

Investment: It seems likely that next year will be a year in which Mayor and Council will decide to make a substantial investment in the acquisition of land and buildings, the cost of which will be reflected in the tax bill.

Meeting: After last Tuesday's regular meeting, the governing body held a special session with the Borough Attorney in order to instruct him with respect to a number of pending legal matters, several of them involving real estate purchases or leases. At the same time, the Finance Committee, the Council may soon plan the details of an omnibus bond issue to cover a wide range of municipal projects that will have a bearing on the community's future.

Yes: The Mayor addressed the Princeton Kiwanis on Thursday on behalf of the proposed new Employment Service. A number of communities throughout America have found this special project of great value to teenagers and to persons of all ages by sponsoring committees in Princeton has been hard at work, planning the many details that will insure a successful beginning of the ven-

More Vacations

Township school children learned this week that they will have a week vacation next year. The School Board has decided to schedule a week's vacation for the month of February, when colds and virus infections make the greatest dent in the attendance list. The schedule:

Sept. 11—School opens.
Nov. 1—Teachers' Convention.
Nov. 23-24—Thanksgiving.
Dec. 23-Jan. 2—Christmas
Fest. 17-25—Midwinter.
Apr. 14-22—Spring.
May 30—Memorial Day.
June 20—School closes.
The schedule provides for 183 days; three more than required by state law.

ture in the coming months. If the reaction of local Kiwanians is typical of local business and professional organizations, the Y.E.S. should anticipate considerable help in this town.

Ex-Officer: Among the assignments of the Mayor are certain ex officio memberships on boards and committees. One of the most important of these is related to Princeton Hospital.

The Mayor's schedule included a meeting of the public relations committee of that board. This week, the Mayor hopes to attend meetings of the personnel committee and the public nursing committee. The full board meets on March 27.

International: One of the social events of the year for Mayor of Princeton is the great opportunity to meet with an unending stream of visitors from far-away lands.

Last week we attended a very exciting formal dinner in New York at the invitation of Ambassador Louis Ignacio Pinto of the Republic of Dahomey. Ambassador Pinto was one of the guests at last October's formal dinner given in Princeton. We have been in frequent touch with him; and last week, he asked us to share with more than 200 UN guests his welcome of Dahomey's independence.

On Thursday, we had a distinguished visitor from the Philippines, Mr. Ben Somara. On Sunday, the Mayor attended the American Field Service, a semi-governmental Peace Corps, and the Morven reception for the Eisenhower Fellows representing many nations around the world.

"Tell It To The Mayor!": The regular weekly open house sessions will be held on Friday, March 24, and on Thursday, March 30, from 7 to 10 p.m. at Borough Hall. No appointment is ever necessary for these informal meetings.

Before this week's Borough Hall open house, Princeton's Mayor expects to pay a brief visit to San Juan Puerto Rico, where each Wednesday morning the Mayor of that beautiful old city holds a similar no-appointment session with the citizens of that island. Next week report will include some notes on that bi-lingual "Tell it to the Mayor!" session.

RECESSION AND AN INFATIONARY HEDGE: Bryce Thompson (right) finds no fault with the way President Kennedy has run the country so far, but Myron Hancock wishes the President would soft pedal the recession issue. For other comments on JFK's first 60 days, see below. (Staff Photo)

Question of the Week

Question: Do you approve of the way President Kennedy has run the country during his first 60 days in the White House?

Where asked: Nassau Street

Mrs. Hanford Farson, 315 Nassau Street: I do. Yes, I do. I think he's chosen good men and supported good programs. I think he's given quite a different flavor to his program; it's more idealistic.

For example, his Peace Corps plan and his 10-point Marshall Plan for Latin America that he just announced.

Myron Hancock, 12 Dorann Avenue, electrical contractor: I think he's tried, but I don't think he's had pictures of recession areas as he has. I'm a business man and this recession publicity hurts. When you are near a terribly recessed area, everybody hangs on to money unnecessarily, and it makes the problem worse than it is.

W. Bryce Thompson, IV, Moores Hill, Mt. Rose Road, Hopewell, real estate broker: As an independent voter who voted for him, I am very pleasantly surprised at the consecutive approach he has taken thus far. The way he campaigned will give the impression that he is going to continue his first 100 days similar to FDR's. I think he campaigned in a more liberal vein than he intended to use in order to win votes. I feel the closeness of his election was a good judge in his appointments and courage in appointing his brother to a job he felt Bobby was better qualified for. Although I don't agree with him on the church-school issue, I think it shows backbone on the issue's question of constitutionality.

As an independent voter, I feel that President Kennedy's policy of maintaining economic growth in excess of 5 percent per year will continue the inflationary spiral we are in.

In addition, he has money for property owners who can use this as an inflationary hedge.

Mrs. Fred A. Olson, 110 Prospect Avenue, housewife: I approve of him highly. I see him fighting against time to keep us from getting into another Mr. Goldwater repeats the 20th Century. He's terrific.

Charles Greene, 44 Wiggins Street, graduate student: Yes, I do. It isn't so much what he's done as it is what he hasn't done. He's been more moderate, I didn't think he'd gone to any extremes, and I think he has used common sense rather than follow some of the extremes in his own party.

Mrs. Ellen Summerfield, 964 Princeton-Washington Road, housewife: Yes, I do. I might add I didn't vote for him. I would now, though, if I had a second chance. He's been courageous. He's taken a stand on things, even things that aren't popular among the electorate. I like his federal aid to education bill that he is sponsoring. I think he has made some very good appointments, ones that have been based on ability and not on politics. He has taken control of some areas of running the administration rather than delegating its powers to others as his predecessor did.

Jacques R. Fresco, 71 College Road, assistant professor, Princeton University: Very recently he has been active and involved in what is being done. The government is being run by the president now, not someone else. He's been true to his campaign promises. It would seem that we will now have our own forward-looking foreign policy and not one which is merely a response to that of the Russians.

Mrs. Helen L. Johnson, 10 High Street, housewife: Oh, indeed so. I approve of everything he does. I think he's just wonderful. I wouldn't miss him on TV. I think he's terrific. I think he's a real performer.

Mrs. Barbara Hayes, 39 Summit Street, housewife: Yes, I do.

I think he is a man of action and has tried to put all his campaign promises through to the best of his ability. I think he will continue to do so until he gets the country back on its feet.

Norman Stern, Morristown, public accountant: I would say, yes. He's aggressive; he knows what he wants and is willing to go after it. I found that he will go to great lengths to get what he wants—or close to it—withstanding his own stand or the public's. Actually, in the first 60 days he has been too much accomplished in so little time. It's hard to do much one way or the other. Let's just say, he's there trying.

Mrs. Thomas Waite, 54 Hermitown Circle, statistician: I have to admire him for what he will do to the extent that he still gets what he wants—or close to it—withstanding his own stand or the private sector. I specifically disagree with his economic policies, but, again, at least I stand on what he's doing. In my opinion, this is much better than having an administration whose policies are unclear.

Mrs. Marjorie Cook, Metuchen, advertising salesman for Clevex: Yes. She seems to be going ahead with a much more positive action than our previous president. Mr. Eisenhower delayed too much, asking for too many opinions, and seemed to be dragging for the job. Kennedy, on the other hand, has a good background. He's been raised in a family that has always been in touch with politics. I think it is quite obvious he knows what to do.

CLOTHES FOR KOREA

Two Women Run Drive. The generosity of hundreds of families in Princeton and the zeal of two women have produced 3500 pounds of good clothing for Korean orphans, clothing which is now on its way to a South Korean orphanage whose children have been in desperate need.

The prime mover in the clothing drive has been Mrs. Sheldon R. Conroy, 209 So. Nassau Road, whose husband, a major in the First Cavalry Division stationed in Korea, told his wife of the plight of the orphans which he had adopted. Mrs. Wells was so moved by her husband's stories of cold, hungry, half-clad children that she decided to start a private clothing drive to help.

Working with her friend Mrs. Edward R. Conroy and with members of the Sunnyside Civic Association of Hamilton Township, Mrs. Wells began her requests for good, used clothing a few days ago. She succeeded that, by the time the cartons were shipped off last week, she had not only used garments, but dozens of new, diamond-plate copper rayon complete new outfits for boys and for girls, ranging in age from two to ten.

In addition, Mrs. Wells received nine requests from families who would like to adopt one of the Korean children in the orphanage. She referred them to the various agencies that handle such adoptions.

"We're worn out, packing all those clothes," Mrs. Wells says, "but it was a marvelous experience."

SEMINARIANS PROTEST

Oppose Private School Aid. A petition protesting direct federal aid to private educational schools has been sent to all members of Congress by members of the student body, faculty and administration of Princeton Theological Seminary. The petition has been signed by 270 persons.

The petition is aimed at a potential rider to President Kennedy's education bill which would provide funds for non-public schools. The original copy has been sent to Representative Adam Clayton Powell, chairman of the House Education and Labor Committee, which is considering the bill. Copies have gone to all members of Congress.

The petition urges the members of Congress "to uphold the heritage of our freedom in Church-State relations." It advocates the development of religious and moral education without a pattern of "public school education supported by the tax dollar and religious education supported by the free will offerings of religious men." The petition was originally drafted by a committee of six Princeton Theological Seminary students. They are: Barry Downing, Edward B. Fiske, George E. Hollingshead, Jr., Judith Kingstone, John L. Larson and Roy Plasch.

SYLVAN WINS GOLD MEDAL AS BEST POOL

SYLVAN POOL, owned by Dr. and Mrs. N. Smullan of Bordentown, New Jersey, was recently awarded the Gold Medal for design excellence by Swimming Pool Age, the major publication of the swimming pool industry. Thus, as for 14 years, Sylvan Pools are the most proved, most popular, most reliable swimming pools available. Sylvan Pools are hand-crafted of steel-reinforced concrete and guaranteed for five full years. You may be surprised to learn, in many instances, that a Sylvan Pool costs no more than pools of far lesser quality. Low bank rates with no down payment requires as little as $60 per month. Where quality and pride of ownership is a consideration, a Sylvan Pool is your best buy. For information in the Princeton area... Ask a family that owns a Sylvan Pool. Otherwise, you may call Princeton, WA1nut 4-2040 or drop a note to SYLVAN POOLS, 201 Nassau Street, Princeton, New Jersey. (Advertisement) and sending for thousand-of-an-inch tolerance. This pattern wood is particularly well suited to work of this kind because it is hard and fine-grained. The wood has been used for harpsichord jacks for many years.

The sound board of a Bannister harpsichord is Sitka spruce, chosen because its grain patterns correspond so closely to the pattern of wood used in old instruments. This pattern must be vertical, not wavy in any part, or the sound will be distorted.

Built for Tone. The spruce is hand-planed to about one-eighth inch in thickness, but varying in thickness from place to place so that it will reflect subtleties of sound as they occur. Mr. Bannister cuts the spruce board to the taut skin of a drum. When the board is finished and in place in the instrument, it is thin, thin light from a flesh-like wood, though it is the strings of a harpsichord, of course, are plucked, not struck like those of a piano. The harpsichord pictured has three sets of strings, the thinnest of which is thinner than a piano string. They are plucked by a minute bit of leather the end of which is attached to the hammers, decked at the girth of a pencil. The eight-foot strings are tuned to standard pitch.

By plucking these strings, the player can play on one or two sets of strings, using two when he wants to increase the sound. The third set of strings is a two-foot string producing tones an octave higher and is used to add sparkle and carrying power to the sound.

You see, Mr. Bannister says, "the harpsichord is not so limited and 'tiny' as most people think."

In the recent past, harpsichords were bought almost entirely by collectors, museums, universities or music schools, rarely by private individuals. But today there is a growing number of musicians and many people are ordering harpsichords as they would pianos, for the privacy enjoyed of music in the home.

Volunteers of the Mercer County Chapter of the American Cancer Society were guests of Mrs. Meyer at a luncheon at Morven, where the mobile unit was presented with an Appreciation Citation by Robert L. Solan, Mercer County Crusade chairman, and Edgar T. Cohen,

A. stable deterrent" would continue all the major hazards of the arms race; those of accidental nuclear war, escalated limited war, spread of nuclear weapons to other countries (diluting the deterrent), continuation of massive research on even more destructive weapons technology, with all the psychological tensions and pressures which now prevail.

The proponents of "stable deterrence" abandon hope of ending the arms race. Yet the laws of probability will allow the arms race to continue for only a finite period without a major war by accident or incident. They are suggesting in effect that the world lie down and await the inevitable collision, perhaps postponed by their formula for structuring and continuing the balance of terror by agreement. They apparently prefer this total risk to the limited and theoretical risk of a controlled disarmament agreement.

Stabilized Deterrence

A. stable deterrent" would continue all the major hazards of the arms race; those of accidental nuclear war, escalated limited war, spread of nuclear weapons to other countries (diluting the deterrent), continuation of massive research on even more destructive weapons technology, with all the psychological tensions and pressures which now prevail.

Is Agreement Possible?

Some "arms controllers" are not psychologically prepared to accept agreements with the U.S. to the U.N. General Assembly.

Memo For Disarmament
Coordinator
John J. McCloy

By Clarence E. Pickett

President-Elect Kennedy is to be commended for the primacy he is giving to disarmament, both in the number of top echelon leaders he is appointing to deal with disarmament and in the support he will give to the new Disarmament Administration. However, despite this increased personnel and machinery, the U. S. is in danger of retreating from its commitment to the goal of comprehensive disarmament with inspection.

If some strategy planners Russians, no matter how sound, have their way, the U. S. will soon honestly feel that a "stabilized deterrent" is a step on the road to disarmament and are na^ve enough to believe it is negotiable.

Some proponents of this position are complete pessimists about the chances of getting controlled agreements with the Russians, and want to give up in advance. This pessimism is not justified: The Eastern and Western concepts of a disarmament treaty are now close in all their major provisions; the best face negotiations have shown Russian commitment, if reluctant, to inspection systems; the Russian negotiators are reported to be under pressure to achieve disarmament agreements before the Chinese and West Germans secure nuclear weapons.

Limitless Peril

Other supporters of "arms control" are unprepared to face a world in which resort to military conflict is no longer possible, even if safeguarded by an effective United Nations peace force. They are unwilling to prosecute the ideological battle in political and economic terms. They do not have faith in the democratic process and are afraid the U. S. might not win. They sell their nation short and then commit it to limitless peril, forgetting that resort to war is not feasible even now, and that blind reliance on military might has driven the Communists to "rend run" the world in the economic and political arenas over and over again.

It is to be hoped that the new Disarmament Administrator will evaluate the doctrine of "arms control" for the deflection which it represents, and proceed under force draft to produce workable proposals for controlled disarmament. He should set task forces to work to detail the techniques of control for each stage of disarmament. These should form the basis for a draft disarmament treaty to be presented by the U. S. to the U. N. General Assembly.

Toward Consolidation.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

The recent public discussions about a proposed study of the pros and cons of consolidation of the Borough and Township prompt me to make a suggestion which might facilitate such a study.

As a resident of the Township I have long been aware that consolidation would result in higher taxes to them. This concern arises out of the fact that the Borough has already adjusted itself to the facilities such as schools, which it believes will need in the foreseeable future, while the Township still remains undeveloped and therefore need additional public facilities.

Borough residents feel (with some basis, in my opinion) that the taxes paid by the Township are too great and even research or light industrial construction in the Township will not be sufficient to pay for the additional tax burden. Therefore, that some of the additional tax burden will have to be borne by existing taxpayers in the Township and those who will benefit from this burden would fall on taxpayers in the former Borough area.

In addition, Borough residents are concerned about the fact that the Township now has a somewhat larger public debt than the Borough.

The proposed study would naturally be part of any study made on the subject of consolidation. If the study showed that consolidation under a tax rate that would result in former Borough taxpayers bearing an unfair portion of the existing Township debt or of the cost of new Township facilities, there are two ways, I suggest, to adjust the tax burden to overcome any uncertainty.

1. A balance sheet could be drawn up of the assets (public facilities) and debts of each municipality, and the difference between the assets of the Borough and Township could be determined. An adjustment could then be made in the tax rates so that the lesser net assets would pay higher taxes until they had paid up the difference. Preferably, in this study, a watershed should be made by the taxpayers of the present Township area because the Township has less assets and more debt than the Borough. (This type of adjustment was part of the proposal of the Joint Consolidation Committee in 1953.)

2. The tax rate could be further adjusted so that the taxpayers in the former Township area pay a portion of taxes for a period of years to absorb all, or a disproportionate part, of the cost of additional public facilities which would be constructed primarily for the benefit of residents of the former Township area. The additional taxes could be established on a gradually increasing scale so that, eventually, the Township area becomes fully developed, the tax rate for the entire consolidated municipality would eventually be equalized. (If present early legislation did not stand enough to permit such a tax adjustment, it should be no problem to get the State Legislature to make the necessary changes.)

These adjustments would help to eliminate the financial problems of consolidation, thus permitting the residents of our single community to realize the benefits of unified planning and development, as well as achieve the savings of unified operation and management, on a fair tax basis.

Blast Like an Earthquake.
To the Editor of Town Topics:
I am releasing for publication

the following letter to the Township Committee:

"I attended your meeting on February 20th at which a representative of the Ringwood Trap Rock Company mining experts appeared to explain their recent quarry blasts. It was my impression that a trap underlain by the Ringwood shale, that trap Rock would try to lesson the effects of their blasting."

At 11:55 A.M. today, March 15, 1961, there was a primary blast which rocked my house with the intensity of a major earthquake. A glass vase was shaken from its shelf and broken. I noticed no vibration in my window or walls. A noise which normally accompanies one of their secondary "bank shots," thus indicating that a rather large amount of dynamite was used for a bullet proof glass.

Afterwards, Kingston Trap Rock is making no effort whatever to lessen the intensity of the efforts of their blasting on surrounding houses."

Two Tons of TNT Appear.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

General John Medaris has stated that the United States has in its stockpile of nuclear armament enough weapons to produce the equivalent of two tons of TNT for every human being now alive. We can only assume that Russia has at least as much in its stockpile.

It is good to know that the world is good. Such destructive power makes war unthinkable. My opinion is that this type of reasoning is very dangerous. It breeds complacency, it breeds leaders and their leaders act within a framework of rationality.

All of history teaches, however, that this is far from the truth. In the first place, we must have been deterred by the prospect of nuclear warfare? The answer must be no.

It has just been a happy accident that nuclear power has been developed in nations whose present leaders are responsible enough to realize the idiocy of a nuclear war. Before there is horror upon us all in less responsible hands, before a mistake or miscalculation triggers the last of "civilized" wars, it is imperative that those in power heed the call for general disarmament agreements.

This seems to me to be only reasonable. It seems so to many people. It is the responsibility of people who agree with this to let their government know how they feel, to make our leaders aware of popular support for disarmament.

The National Committee for a Safe Nuclear Policy is working hard to mobilize public opinion behind a sane approach to the problems of the nuclear age. Support for mutual disarmament is one of its primary policies. On March 26th, the NSNP is sponsoring a walk from McGuire Air Force Base to the U.N. building in New York.

The title of the walk will be "SAFETY THROUGH DISARMAMENT." The walkers will pass through Princeton on March 26 and will hold a meeting that night at the First Presbyterian Church, Nassau Street. Here, it seems to me, is a good opportunity for those who support these views to make themselves heard.

The need is urgent. Those against disarmament and for the arms race are not silent.

SPORTS In Princeton

SEASONS CONVERGE

Variety Activities Scheduled.

A protracted winter sports season will start with the first event on the spring calendar is taking place. Fencing and swimming are holdovers from the winter season; a large group of students left Saturday afternoon and Tuesday evenings in track, golf and tennis are ready to head north.

Fencing enthusiasts will have a big weekend in Dayton, Ohio, next Saturday. Intercollegiate bouts will be held Friday and Saturday. Some 24 colleges are entered in the event.

Across the nation in Seattle, Wash., Princeton swimmers will take part in the NCAA championships, seeking the first national title since 1952. The 200 and 200-yard butterfly are the events.

Gardiner Green, Eastern butterfly champion at 100 yards, and Ivy League runner-up in the 200, has the best chance of success.

The Incusites will open its 1951 season with the Philadelphia Lacrosse Club at 2 o'clock on April 1. Coach Ferris Thomsen looks for a successful defense of the Ivy title and is hopeful that his relatively inexperienced squad may knock off one of the top eastern teams. The Princeton basketball team's college games will take place against Maryland the following Saturday, April 1.

The mile relay team which won the indoor ICRA and Heptagon titles during the winter season will run in Gainesville, Fla., this weekend in the Florida Relays. During the week of spring vacation which begins Saturday, the Princeton tennis team will play in Florida, the告off will be in North Carolina and the track team in Virginia.

Baseball, too, is in the picture, with a pair of contests against the Princeton diamond east of Palmer Station next Friday and Saturday, March 21 and April 1. Pitching problems figure to be more than the Tigers can solve in the always-unpredictable ten-man Eastern League race.

It was 42-31 for the Tigers at the intermission, but St. Bonaventure won by an American Tom Stanis, who completed a play of a red-hot second half. Hitting on 23 of 34 shots from the floor, the Bonnies drew to 34 points in the third quarter, while holding the Tigers to 25. It was an 89-87 final. In the other game, St. Joe's earned a semifinal NCAA berth by trouncing Wake Forest, 96 to 86.

Had not Don Swan stayed north because of the concussion he received early in the game against George Washington, Princeton would have come out 29-28 victors. Instead, Princeton might well have topped St. Joe's. His leadership and his rebounding could have spelled the difference in the close game.

Pete Campbell (see "We Congratulate") and Al Knaemmerlen were both standouts for the Tigers at Charlotte. Knaemmerlen had 18 points and St. Bonaventure game while hauling in a good share of the rebounds. Mike Burton was packed as Swan's replacement and gave a good performance both nights.

With three and a half minutes left, St. Joseph's had a 65-55 lead with 32 seconds to go. The Princetoners had cut this to 68-67 and seemed to have given up. Drew Hyland stole the ball. A freeze and a shot at the buzzer might have pulled the upset of the tournament, but Hyland was called for traveling. The decision that the traveling foul was most unfair and St. Joseph's regained possession.

Fouls committed in an effort to get the ball out caused frequent stops in the scoring seconds and they left the floor beaten by 72-74. The crowd, however, got a look at Ivy League basketball that won it and Jake McCandless' quintet, a host of friends,

Knaemmerlen is Captain

Al Knaemmerlen, standout center for Princeton's Ivy League basketball team for the past two seasons, has been elected captain of the Princeton basketball team in 1951-52. He was named to the team in 1949 and was end of the current campaign.

The 6-5 Edselton, Pa., resident averaged 409 points and 335 rebounds this year for the Princeton team, with 16.7 and 13 per game. His floor shooting average of .511 was one of the best in the east.

Who's Dreaming? Twelve minutes after the game began Saturday night, Princeton was leading Bonnies, 20-17, third-quarter leader, with 17 points. It had to be the leaderless Tigers, playing their third tough game in five days, would yield to the press, that the Bonnies could produce, but again the crowd was rooting for the Ivy Leaguers.

The Tigers finished with an 11-1 record, and were the proud possessors of the "Ivy Cup" of the year. They became the first Princeton team to defend the Ivy title successfully, and they won the Orange and Black's annual trophy in NCAAs tournament.

Basketball Guard

It's a big move upward from Ivy League to NCAAs, but Pete Campbell played his best basketball in the second year at Princeton, took part in the national collegiate tournament. While a number of players contributed to the great record, showing that the Tigers made in post-season play, it was Campbell's ability to average 25 points a game that got him the nod much of the story.

A year ago as a sophomore, he and his teammates had pretty well frozen when they moved into Madison Square Garden for Duke in the first round of NCAA action.

Needling 11 points to set a one-season scoring record of 501, Campbell got a 25-point game at the Tigers came home a soundly beaten team.

This year, it was a different story. The season just completed reflected the great 27-game win (11 from the floor) as the Tigers romped past George Washington to the quarterfinals at Charlotte.

Campbell hit 24 against both St. Joseph's and St. Bonaventure, including one performance of 12 out of 13 from the foul line. And on the weekend which saw Princeton boost Ivy League prestige so heavily, Pete Campbell was named to the all-tournament team.

All-Ivy as a sophomore, the Hudson resident was named to the league team for the again at the conclusion of the post season. The achievement gives him the chance to become the first Princetonian in league history to earn an all-star rating for three straight years.

Early in the first game of the 1961-62 campaign, Pete Campbell's second point of the evening will give him a career total of 1,000. Long before the season ends, he will set a new three-year record—possibly one that will top 1,500.

These are basketball fans who will tell you that when the 1961 season ended, Penn and not Princeton had the best team, and that the Quakers were the team of the year from now. Pete Campbell's scoring punch—good for an average of almost 20 points a game and at its best when the going was toughest—may prove otherwise.

CO-CAPTAIN ELECT: Gary Grover, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Grover, of 23 Chestnut Street, has been elected co-captain, with Jim Byers, of Trenton, of the 1961-62 Princeton High School basketball team. Grover is also a member of the varsity football and baseball teams.

Hudson is a sophomore, a fifth player to go with them must be found, but the potential to win a third straight Ivy championship remains—despite the threat posed by Pennsylvania. No one sees in next year's race will come even close.

man hockey teams who live in this area have received playing and managerial recognition for the season recently completed.

RCA LABS WINS TITLE
In YMCA League. The six-team YMCA Hospital and Industrial Basketball League ended its season with unbeaten RCA Labs winning its final game from the 3 B's to capture the title. The final score was 3 B's, each with 61 marks, finished in a tie for second place.

The League champions came very close to being the final. With two minutes of play remaining, the 3 B's led by six points, but the Lab players came back to tie the game on their quick strike. Joe Jones, Shreve, scored 20 seconds to go, dropped in the winning goal to give his team a 48-46 victory. Joe Jones had high for RCA with 13; Bill Stiles, seven; Tom Perks and Ray Reeves 12 each for the losers.

YMCA took advantage of the 3 B's loss, winning, while RCA Astro, 56-57, to move into a second place tie with the 3 B's. Lenny Mays got 40 percent of the victory's points, hitting on eight field goals and four free throws for a game high of 20 points. Gerry Gibbs and Charles Carroll had 25 points between them for Astro. Jim Wagner and Peter Turner on Research Corporation clinched third place by edging fourth-place Food Machinery and Chemical, 38-36. Ray Tambini with 17 points and Fred Nubrone with 13 led ORC's attack. Jim Wagner and Peter Turner with eight apiece paced FMC.

The league, now entering a twelve-day layoff, will crown champion and second and third place winners will be determined March 28. The public is invited to attend these games, which will be played at the Princeton High School Gymnasium starting at 7.

The final standings:

Team	Won	Lost
RCA Labs	10	0
3 B's	6	4
YMCA	6	4
ORC	5	6
Food M. & C.	4	6
RCA Astro	0	10

DEAR TRAVELEX,

Now that St. Patrick's Day is over and all the celebrations are just a memory, some of the Irishmen we've been talking to say that sure and it's a shame that it comes only once in a year. So never let it be said that the people of the Emerald Isle will sit around wishin' that things was different — no sir — not them!

There's a party of them that's going to see for their selves! Going to kiss the Blarney Stone — in person, that they are!

Sure they're comin' to you for all their arrangements and they'll find it's more fun and less costly when you make up their itineraries and reservations and put their tickets in their hands for them!

We've heard it said that Ireland is one place on earth where prices are the same as they were before the great war of the forties!

It's a fine time they'll be havin' and we wish we were going along — don't you?
